

Glen David Andrews

Glen David Andrews

"He is one of the most amazing vocalists alive today -- his billowing baritone is like a horn instrument itself -- and he is an incredible entertainer. He sanctifies, electrifies, hellafies. If you weren't dancing at this show you were dead."
Houston Press

"By combining the old with the new, Andrews has created a unique sound, one that is currently captivating New Orleans music fans. Andrews certainly possesses the pedigree to carry this illustrious New Orleans musical flame."
nolafunguide

"He's a link for his generation to something important. But he also has a rare enthusiasm and energy that makes it all special and exciting for even casual listeners."

Ben Jaffe, Preservation Hall

Glen David Andrews articulates the deep musical heritage of the city of New Orleans while keeping one foot planted in the more contemporary, funky sounds of today's brass bands. The other foot rests firmly on the time-honored tradition of his elders; legends such as Anthony "Tuba Fats" Lacen, Louis Armstrong and Jelly Roll Morton.

In New Orleans jazz is not just a type of music, but a way of life. No singular artist stands taller or prouder in representing the city's deep musical heritage than Glen David Andrews.

glendavidandrewsband.com

Noted Venues

- Preservation Hall
- Tipitinas
- Jazz and Heritage Festival
- Voodoo Festival
- Bayou Boogaloo

Accomplishments

- Featured on a track on the upcoming Galactic release
- Prominently featured in Spike Lee's documentary "When the Levees Broke"
- New Live Gospel CD to be recorded November 2008 for Threadhead Records
- Featured in the documentary "Shake the Devil Off"

For more information and booking please contact:

Sound Advice Management
Kimball Packard / Ashley Dorr
packard1@gmail.com
ashdorr@gmail.com
soundadvicemanagement.com
781.246.7944